Seminarian says the priesthood 'fits' him

By Shirley M. Henderson

PASCAGOULA -- When I caught up with seminarian Lee Bosarge recently, he had just returned from a week long retreat in preparation for his ordination to the priesthood on June 10.

He had finished final exams Friday, May 6, at Notre Dame Seminary in New Orleans and was in need of a break.

After basically 25 years of school, from kindergarten through graduate school with only a one year "work-break" in the middle, Bosarge said, "I have had just about enough of classes, tests and evaluations for a while.

"I look forward to the time when I can read something because I want to, not because I have to... I'm going to spend the next month (at home in Pascagoula) finishing up a few details concerning ordination, but mainly going fishing, playing golf, doing some yard work, and playing with my cat," he said.

With the ordination invitations in the mail, Bosarge could afford to take a "breather." He explained that about three weeks ago, after signing the required documents requesting ordination, "It really hit me that I was going to be a priest in just a couple of months."

He really got busy then. And the preparation has become a family affair. His sister, Carol, designed the artwork for his invitation; and everybody else in the family had their own suggestions for the invitation list.

"I never realized all this was involved," he said of planning the ordination Mass and his first Mass, which he'll celebrate the day after his ordination. Planning those programs, picking the music, and servers, etc., "Make planning for a wedding pale in comparison," he observed.

About his decision to enter the seminary, Bosarge said, "When my time approached to graduate from Southern Miss in 1986, I was very dissatisfied with my career choice, and was not looking forward to a life working in a laboratory as a chemist."

He admits that his attempts at finding a job following graduation were "very weak." He returned home, and commuted to the University of South Alabama, studying physics, while also working part-time for the Naval Research Laboratory in Mobile.

Still dissatisfied with the direction, or lack of direction, his life was taking, he decided to ask his mother to help him sort out his life.

"Actually, I woke her up at two in the morning after a sleepless night of worrying," he confesses. "I told her that I wanted to do something that in some way would allow me to help others... Out of the blue she suggested... that maybe the priesthood... would fulfill me.

"I at first thought she was nuts," he said, but by morning the "tiny flicker inside began to grow and I knew that I needed to find out more," Bosarge said. He went to see Msgr. James Russell, diocesan director of vocations, that very day.

I was another year, in May of 1990, before he began studying at Notre Dame.

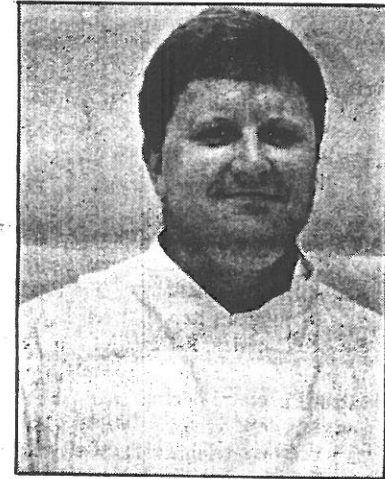

Bosarge credits many priests with having inspired him, especially those serving in the Diocese of Biloxi. He is grateful to his former pastor at Our Lady of Victories, Fr. Patrick McDermott, for his support over the years. And his litany of role models include: Msgr. James Hanon, and Fathers John Burke, Henry McInerney, Louis Lohan, and Patrick Quinn, "who has especially shown me what a commitment to the priesthood really entails," he said.

Bosarge says he decided to be a diocesan priest and serve here for a variety of reasons. "I know the people, I am one of them... there is no other place I'd rather live," he said.

"My internship at St. Joseph in Gulfport was an eye-opening experience for me. I never thought that I could call any place home except for Pascagoula. The people of St. Joseph... accepted me with open arms and allowed me to journey with them for five months. They shared their faith with me and gave me the opportunity to share mine with them... It was very hard for me to leave there," he said. "But I'm glad for that, because if it were easy to leave, it would show that I did not give very much of myself to the people there," he added.

Realizing what a big step ordination is, Bosarge said, "I finally have the feeling that I have found what I have been looking for... Despite that," Bosarge admits, "I am scared to death about what will happen in the future."

Since he knows this is a "healthy fear" he is experiencing, he also thinks that same fear will empower and sustain him. Lee Bosarge, who will be ordained a priest next month, believes, that for him, "the priesthood does 'fit'."

Next Latin Mass

BILOXI -- Bishop Howze will celebrate the monthly Tridentine-Rite Mass on Sunday, June 4, at 3 p.m. in the Marian Chapel of the Nativity BVM Cathedral.

This mass utilizes the 1962 Roman Missal of Pope John XXIII and is the only Latin Mass celebrated in the Diocese of Biloxi with the approval of the Holy See.

All interested persons are cordially invited to attend and participate in this monthly celebration.

AUTO ACCIDENT CAUSES INJURIES SEVEN PERSONS

Dec. 25-1936 MPA

Car Driven by Pascagoula Lady
Runs Into Tree in Moss Point.
Injures Occupants

A car driven by Mrs. Albert (Sonny Boy) Bosarge of Herrick street, Pascagoula, became unmanageable on Sunday evening about five o'clock, on the River Road in front of H. A. Irving's place in Moss Point, and ran head on into an oak tree on the right hand side of the road, causing injuries to the six grown persons and one of the two children who were in the car.

Mrs. Bosarge stated that she was rounding the curve, driving at a speed of about 15 miles an hour, when the steering gear failed to respond to her turn of the wheel, and the car dashed into the tree before she could stop it. The car was not demolished and little if any of the glass was broken, but the engine was driven back through the center of the car, causing the injuries.

In the car with Mrs. Bosarge were: Mrs. Katie Hester, Miss Dorothy Foster, Charles Albert Bosarge, aged 3 years, Miss Alison Lynn, Miss Kathleen Couch, Miss Elizabeth Foster and the Bosarge baby, the latter being the only occupant of the car who was not injured. They were all thrown from the car by the impact with the tree.

Mrs. Bosarge received a sprained foot and ankle, and cuts and bruises about the eye. Mrs. Hester was bruised about the leg and thigh. Dorothy Foster had her lip cut. Charles Albert, the little boy, suffered a turned ankle and a severe cut over the eyes, making a gash in the center of his forehead, which took a number of stitches to close. Miss Lynn was the worst injured, having a broken leg. Miss Couch had an ankle broken, and Elizabeth Foster suffered a cut in her forehead.

All the injured ones were taken to the Jackson County Hospital, where they were given attention. Misses Lynn and Couch, being the most seriously injured, are still in the hospital; the others were allowed to go to their homes after receiving surgical treatment.

Mrs. Hester, Miss Couch and Miss Lynn are residents of Moss Point. The others live in Pascagoula.

Three Young Men Injured As Their Auto Turns Over

MPA
Roe Sharp Bosarge and Claude and Emory Jones, of Orange Grove, received injuries when their car was forced off the road and caused to turn over, Tuesday.

The accident occurred on the short cut Mobile road.

The boys were employed at the Jackson County Mills and were on their way to work when a car blew to pass them, another car was coming toward them and rather than have a collision with the two cars they took to the ditch and their car turned over once.

They were taken to Jackson County Hospital where they underwent treatment. Seven stitches were taken in the back of Claude Jones' head. Emory Jones received a few injuries and both the Jones boys were released in a few hours. Roe Sharp Bosarge was held for observation, having received injuries on his elbow, wrists, and back. He is not seriously injured, however, and expects to be released from the hospital soon. MAY 29, 1941

There has been much comment by State press pro and con on the Corinth negro burning. The brute deserved what he got. That is all we have to say about it.

Nov 4, 1902

Gov. Longino has appointed Dr. H. M. Folkes, of Biloxi as a member of the State Board of Health to succeed Dr. D. B. Watkins, resigned. This is a good appointment.

Living on the Gulf Coast is not as hard to earn, either on land or water as in most other localities. With active effort any man can live upon food and comfort far beyond the pinch of mere existence or the suffering of starvation.

On Saturday last the remains of Mrs. Elizabeth Bosarge were disinterred by Mr. Charlton Bosarge and brother from the old family home and taken to Grand Bay, Alabama cemetery and placed by the side of her husband. Nearly forty years have elapsed since her demise.

The aim of all business men of this section should be to induce and assist in having a railroad between Moss Point to Lucedale and Ellisville. This would open up a traffic of passenger and freight, and bring into intercourse the people of the interior with those of the sea coast.

There are four full-blooded Choctaw Indian ministers of the gospel in this State. They are as follows: Rers. I. Ham Johnson, Billie Gibson, Daniel Williams, Elder Jackson. They are all members of the Baptist faith and are pastors of small churches. Mr. Johnson states that good progress is being made in influencing the Indians to accept the Christian religion.

The Port of Pascagoula is such a promising trade spot with its present maritime and manufacturing advantages that there is no excuse why numerous industries such as canning, furniture, sash and blind, ice, wagon factories, and in fact any others that can be provided with the abundant subscriptions vary from $25 to $1,000, and are payable in installments.

E. C. Morris, one of the delegates at the Negro Baptist Convention, held in Birmingham recently, gave his people some good advice. He said among other things:

"The North and South have helped us, many of the race have made use of opportunities and, taking the race as a whole, I think it will be conceded that we have made some progress. The end is not yet reached, and I warn you that the hardest battles are ahead of us and are to be met firmly and courageously by you, who are the leaders of the people. The days of those would-be leaders, who have gained their influence and standing by unscrupulous methods, is at an end. The day of looseness, frivolity and kindred vices, which have been indulged in by many who have occupied conspicuous places among us, is rapidly passing away, and the demand for upright, Christian men is rapidly increasing. We live in the midst of an other people stronger than we are, and we are going to remain here because we have helped to make the country what it is. Let us live in peace and harmony. Let the negro and the white man together love this great institution, obey and respect the law and the great problem will soon be solved. We must unite in prosecuting every man who breaks the law, let him be white or black. A criminal is simply a criminal and should be punished."

A preacher in a small town in Mississippi was pastor of a flock, who were exceedingly hard to pry loose from their coin. As a result the preacher found that it was mighty hard to get anything richer than soup bones in the way of meat, and his best pants were patched on the west side. One day he went into the pulpit and commenced to preach in a whisper. The congregation regarded him with astonishment, thinking that he had suddenly become "bug-housy." After the service the deacons gathered and thence from along the centre aisle, said with a flourish, "The in for Aldermen of shall be elected wards, by the wards, and one f

Hard work, espresso boost USA honors grad

■ For Leann Bosarge, 'The sky's the limit'

By SARA GREER
The Mississippi Press

PASCAGOULA — Leann Bosarge of Pascagoula swears that espresso-laced cappuccinos have helped her rise to the top of her graduating class at the University of South Alabama.

"Caffeine is the stuff that dreams are made of," she said tongue-in-cheek, admitting that she's needed a boost of energy quite a few times during her undergraduate career.

The 22-year-old's determination and maturity, however, are really what's taken her to where she is today — graduating summa cum laude on her way to a successful career in the field of her choice.

After today's ceremony, Bosarge will hold a bachelor's degree from the Mitchell College of Business with a double major in accounting and finance, a dual concentration in general finance and depository institutions and management — "a fancy word for banking," she said — and a minor in French for good measure.

She attended summer school to graduate in time with the second major, and has finished her undergraduate career with about 175 credit hours.

"That's more than what you have to have to get a master's," she said with a mix of pride and exhaustion.

But the résumé doesn't stop there. One of the first graduating Mitchell Scholars, she unexpectedly received the $8,000 scholarship her sophomore year after a meeting with an adviser.

When she asked permission to take a 21-hour semester, he inquired about her academic background. Her 4.0 grade point average — which remains the same today — and her accomplishments while at Pascagoula High School, where she graduated valedictorian in 2000, astonished him.

"He said, 'Well, you're a Mitchell Scholar, right?' And I said 'No.' I didn't apply for it when I first came in because I thought I wasn't eligible because I was from Mississippi," she remembered.

"I'm the only Mitchell Scholar from outside Alabama," she added.

Her accomplishments continued full speed ahead. President for the last two years of the business college's most prestigious honor society, Beta Gamma Sigma, she's also acted as secretary of the Financial Management Association and Beta Alpha Psi, an honors accounting club.

She's served hours of community service, including building houses with Habitat for Humanity, greeting seniors at the Elderhostel in Mobile and holding an Easter egg hunt for abandoned women and children, just to name a few.

She also moonlights during tax season for an accounting firm in Mobile.

"You can do it," she said when asked how she manages her unbelievably hectic schedule. "You don't get to sleep much. You don't have a whole lot of a social life. If there's little things you need to do during the day you better write 'em down," she said laughing.

"You run a lot," she continued. "You don't walk too many places. But it can be done and if you want it bad enough you'll do it."

Most touching about the young graduate, however, is her commitment to her family. The daughter of Steve and Sandra Bosarge, she has two sisters, Stephanie, 20, and Jessica, 15. Leann is the first in her family to graduate from college.

In addition to her academic and community involvements, she's always managed to work for the family shrimping business in Pascagoula, Bosarge Boats Inc., often putting in 30 hours a week.

"You name it, I do it," she said. From balancing the checkbook to making deliveries to cleaning toilets, Bosarge is a versatile employee — and she does it for free.

"I say that, but on the same token they still put a roof over my head and they feed me on occasion. And at this point they help me with my bills," she said.

Without her family, she added, she'd have a hard time getting through her busy days.

"With all the things that I'm trying to do in four years, there's times when I break down and I say, 'Why am I doing this? I can't do this anymore.' And I have my family to fall back on," she said.

Proud mother Sandra Bosarge is very familiar with her daughter's dedication and determination.

"It doesn't really matter what she is going after," she said. "Whether it's business or school, or even pleasure, she's always giving everything that she has."

Steve Bosarge couldn't be prouder of his daughter.

"She's worked hard. She worked hard all the way through high school and she's continued to strive to achieve what she wanted," he said. "The sky's the limit."

With plans to enter a career in banking, she's interviewed with companies both in Alabama and at home.

"Mississippi is honestly where I want to be. This is my home," she said. When she finally makes her choice, she doesn't plan to slow down.

"Saturdays I'll probably be at the family business. And hopefully, if I can fit it into my schedule, to be somewhat involved in the community. It's something I've done for the past eight years and I really enjoyed it, especially in my own community," she said.

"I really hope she takes a break this summer," her mother said. Maybe a trip back to Europe, where Leann once studied while at college, she suggested.

"But she's proud of herself and she looks forward to the next step," she added.

Bosarge is weighing her options, whether to stay at the family business or go into banking. But either way, she's ready for the hard work ahead.

"I would love to take a break right now, but at this point it doesn't really look like it's going to happen," she said. "I know that if I want to make it to the top that's the only way I'm going to get there."

Eleuterius presents papers at conference

OCEAN SPRINGS — Dr. Lionel N. Eleuterius, head of the botany section at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, recently delivered two papers at the second annual conference of the Louisiana Environmental Professionals Association in New Orleans.

Effects of Roadfills Across Tidal Marshes examined how solid roadfills act such as dams which affect tidal flooding and freshwater discharge, resulting in modifications to inland plant and animal life.

"Productions of thousands of acres of tidal marshland could be improved by restoring tidal influence through increasing the number and size of culverts in existing roadfills," said Dr. Eleuterius.

Dr. Eleuterius' second paper, Transplanting Strategies for Estuaries, suggested that genotypic selection and selective breeding studies of estuarine and marine flowering plants should become part of transplanting research to combat some of the problems confronting estuaries and salt marshes.

"Most plant species in our salt marshes have adapted to a pristine environment, but are not being exposed to a rapidly changing coastal ecosystem," Dr. Eleuterius said.

His research indicates that plant species well adapted to a pristine environment may be unable to adjust rapidly to marsh environments altered by widespread pollution, changes in drainage basins and freshwater discharge patterns, tidal regime modification, subsidence and rising sea levels.

"Selective breeding for salt tolerance and rapid growth was carried out successfully in past research conducted at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory," Dr. Eleuterius pointed out, suggesting that selective breeding of estuarine plants give impetus to similar research in other fields of marine science.

Lee Bosarge Was The Greatest Fisherman Ever Seen On The Gulf!

Lee Bosarge, according to many old-timers, was the greatest fisherman ever seen on the Gulf of Mexico — and that takes in all the way from Bayou la Batre to Key West to the Rio Grande. And an old-timer like Lee would not have said Ree-O Grande, he'd have said Rye-O Grande.

Lee died back around 1932, and already, there are many who never heard of him — but there are also many who remember him. His sons, Walter and Urby remember him — and Pat Andrews and Dr. Mose Tapia, they remember him — and, naturally, Hubert and George and Maslin Bosarge remembered him quite vividly.

Everybody who talks about him says Lee was the greatest fisherman ever seen on the Gulf. Over there in Florida, they called him "Skipjack Lee."

The late Uncle Bud Rabby always spoke happily of Lee. He said one night, just at midnight, a water spout picked his boat up out of the water and carried it 250 yards up on to Petit Bois Island (Petty Boy). Lee Bosarge and his crew helped Uncle Bud get off the island. The boat stayed there a week. They dammed up a little pond, dug a trench to the Lake, and put sails on the boat. When they let the damage, the boat came flying off the island.

Uncle Bud was having lots of trouble, then, and Lee told him not to worry, he'd help him. And the next day, Lee caught him 15,000 pounds of fish.

Lee Bosarge would be 95 if he were alive. His father, Charlton Bosarge, was a cattle raiser, and he had a little fish market in the town of Grand Bay. Lee quit school in the third grade.

His uncle, Old Man David Bosarge, started him off at fishing, but Lee taught himself, fishing with nets in Grand Bay. Grand Bay opens into Mississippi Sound — the Lake — and Lee fished there and lived in the town of Grand Bay.

When he was 18, Lee took a job in Kerry's Saloon, in Pascagoula. After that, he could always mix up a good drink.

At the age of 21, Lee sailed as mate on the Pam Ross. One year later, he was skipper. During the succeeding 23 years, he lived in Bayou la Batre. His most famous boat was the "Select" — "she looked like a punkin!" All those years, Lee was a skipper for the Star Fish and Oyster Company, of Mobile, and some of his boats were, the Alaretta, the Fawn, the Maggie Sava.

After his 23 years in Bayou la Batre, he returned to Pascagoula, and was skipper on the Viola, the Louise Paul and the Albatros. Then he spent three years in Biloxi, and three years in Orange, Texas. In his last days, he was running 400 muskrat traps along the Mississippi River, near Violet, Louisiana.

Lee died as he was being carried up the steps into Touro Infirmary, in New Orleans. The last thing he said to his wife was, "... take care of my boat — don't let it git loose!"

In spite of the famous story of Lee's fight with the two waterspouts, he is a great fisherman for another reason — and a reason that relates him to the immortal seafaring men of history. Lee was the first man to sail out of sight of land in a motorboat. His boat, the Select, had ten horse power, and on a Sunday in 1907, she went over 25 miles into the Gulf to the snapper banks and brought back the first snapper ever delivered by a motor boat. People came from miles around to see that catch.

Walter Bosarge says Lee was caught in heavy blizzards many times as he came up through Grant's Pass, with his rigging frozen. Walter says he has seen the Bayou frozen over thirteen mornings in a row, and when the boats came down the Bayou, the ice popped like gunfire.

Lee would go down to Chandeleur and haul in ten or twelve thousand pounds of red fish, sheephead and speckled trout, all choice fish. Sometimes, using a stop-net across the mouth of a lagoon when a freeze was coming in, Lee caught as much as 90,000 pounds, enough to load three boats.

In the 1906 storm, Lee was aboard the Alvaretta. He lost her when she hit the railroad bridge at Pascagoula, and he and his men walked 50 miles through swamps and trails to Bayou la Batre. Took 'em three days to make the hike.

They say Lee could put a siene around a school of fish and tell you within ten pounds how much fish he had. He had an instinct for the sea, was a natural-born navigator and weather prophet. When he said it would rain, it rained! He could find any spot on the coast in the densest fog.

One day, on a snapper boat, Lee's gullikin stick fell overboard. Some of the sharks around the boat were 20 feet long. Lee politely dived overboard and retrieved his gullikin. When crewmates told him the sharks would get him, he laughed, said they wouldn't bother him! One time Lee was aboard the Gladiola, headed for West Grand Bay Pass, and the mainsail jibed and took Lee overboard. Old Man Randolph Raymond, the master, called the crew out and said, "We just lost Lee over the side."

They rounded the boat around, and just when they knew he was lost for keeps, out there in the night and the fog — the Gladiola ran right over Lee and he grabbed the bobstay and climbed up over the bow.

Urby Bosarge says he bets his daddy just stood there and cussed a blue streak for a minute. "These oldtimers could just miss death by a fraction and cuss to beat the band."

One of the legends created by Lee concerns the time he carried eight sportsmen duck-hunting down to Lake Borgne. In Biloxi, some local hiram came up and asked if they needed a pilot. Nope, says Pat Andrews, we've got all the pilot we need in Lee Bosarge!

So they thought no more about it — went on down to Lake Borgne and shot ducks. They shot for five days and got 250 pairs of ducks.

They were all wealthy men from Birmingham, and they thought they could simply pay for their hunting licenses when the game wardens came up. But when the wardens did arrive, they had to give up their guns and surrender their ducks and go into a little town on Lake Borgne. There they made bond. It was a mix-up, all around, for that fellow in Biloxi had told the authorities Lee and Pat Andrews were transporting a boat load of desperate gunmen, maybe they were bank robbers! All because they wouldn't let him be pilot for the trip. That was in 1908.

One time, Lee was sailing from Bayou la Batre to Pascagoula and up came five waterspouts, and everybody aboard got scared, but Lee wasn't afraid. He just sailed around and in between them —

two, three hundred yards away.

Of course, the greatest story ever told about Lee Bosarge is the one Bert Deakle and Willie Peyregne used to tell.

All the shrimp boats from Bayou la Batre, Coden, Heron Bay and Dauphin Island were out there in the Lake and up came two waterspouts. The most monstrous waterspouts ever seen! They went up to every fishing boat in the fleet, and one by one, they destroyed all the boats. Tore 'em up and killed the men. Lee sat there in the select and watched the spouts bear down on him, and when he knew they had spotted his boat, he told his son Urby to go in and start up the Hoppin' John — that was the Lathrop motor, that always went hit and miss, hit and miss. By the time Urby got the motor started, there was nothing for Lee to do but head for shore — but not Lee, no sir! — he sailed round and round the first waterspout, and round and round, in and out, between the two of 'em, until both waterspouts got tired and worn out — they got discouraged and disgusted and "they pulveriezed theirself and blowed away in their own spume!"

Bert Deakle always said Lee had his worst trouble with the seadogs. Seadogs would leap aboard a boat and knaw a hole right through the hull. These seadogs had bloody fights with the catfish.

Other stories are told about Lee: how he built a fire on an island, one morning, and the island rose up and "div" — it was a whale!

The battleship Mississippi stood off Pascagoula, on her maiden voyage. She drew 22 feet, and the channel inside Horn Island was only 20 feet. Thousands of people wanted to see their battleship. The tugboats Dantsler, Colle and the Wahalak were to take the people out — but the water was too rough. There was great gloom in Pascagoula!

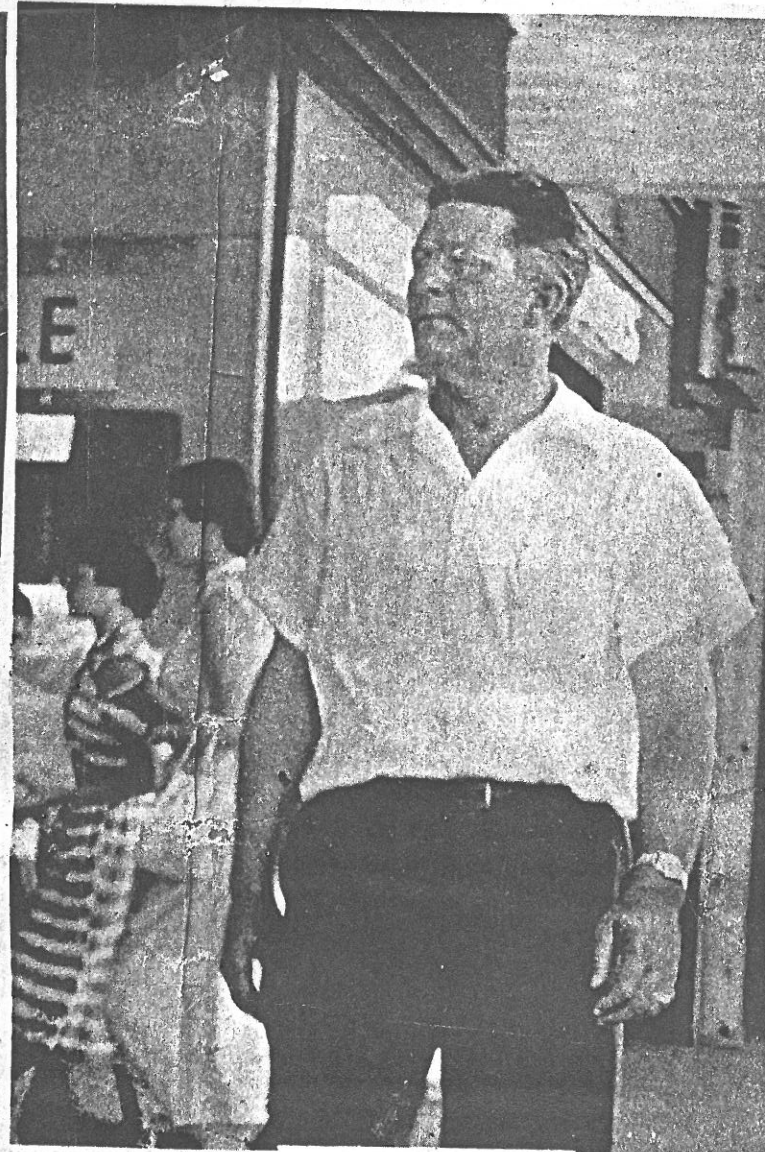

All of a sudden, along comes Lee Bosarge in the Select, 22-foot long, seven feet wide with a two foot draft. He sailed right up — bounced right up — to the tugs, said he would take out anybody who wanted to go. People looked at those waves and nobody wanted to go.

Lee went out to the Mississippi alone, tied up to her and went aboard. When he returned and told the people what he had done, they were simply astounded, because men in boats 65-feet long had been afraid to go out there — but not Lee, because he was the greatest fishermen on the Gulf of Mexico!

Choper Schambeau

The late Choper Schambeau, the sage of Coden. He was the undisputed champion at net weaving. Choper told wonderful stories about the 1906 storm, about Mulford Dorlon and about Spud Thompson, the pirate. People came from miles around and sat enthralled as he told his stories.

Urby Bosarge, unexcelled story teller and a genuinely great fisherman. He is the son of the legendary Lee Bosarge.

Mrs. Louisa Bosarge residing in the District before you, with the greatest respect, presents himself, and says, that in the year 1786 her late husband solicited, and obtained, from the French government,
of these provinces, a concession of land,
situate upon the Bayou (River) Bateria bounded on the east by the Island of Aloyp Ode Ocas, and on the West by Pine Point, and the customary depth, as appears from the Copy of the accompanying Title, although from the board, which is the place where the front is considered of that portion of land which was granted to him, running upon the line of the depth from South to North upon the left border of said river, of the ~~Portu~~ ~~and~~ ~~between~~ ~~them~~ ~~where~~ ~~said~~ ~~land~~ ~~is~~ ~~situ~~ ~~ated~~, there are near thirty arpens of low meadow lands, and uninhabited by being always overflowed, and from this circumstance (en esta vertude) her said deceased husband, believed, that although his concession said that the said land was bounded on the east by the Island Alojé ode Ocas, and the River Bateria, and on the west by the Point of Pines, that they should not reckon the forty arpens, which is the regular depth in every concession, except from the place where the land can be inhabited, and cultivated, in consequence of this he made his settlement upon said land on the left bank of the river, Bateria, where he could fix himself with more advantage and at no great distance from the Bay known by the name of Bayou Dupont, or Saca-las, and on the other side (east) he sowed his corn, and made other cultivation, and for about nine years his family are in possession of said land, from which at this time she finds herself on the eve of being driven away by the petition which she knows Mr. Texman intends to make, of my concession, which would put the petitioner as well as her children, in the sad condition.

of perishing want, and hunger, not being able to reap the benefit of the labor which her late husband bestowed, to clear the land for the support of his family.

She herself petitions you to grant the depth of her land be recognized, and calculated from the place where the meadow ground borders upon the habitable land, as far the Bayou called Fish water, (lecar douce) which as far as this regulates by a small difference the forty cassens depth, that her concession ought to comprise, a favor she hopes to receive from you

Mr. Governor General of the Province.

By the information of the inhabitants of this District have given me, who best know me the situation and quality of the land of which the petitioner speaks in the memorial it is verified that by a bad explanation of the petition which was granted for the concession obtained in the year 1786 she would be found with some property which would be of no use if attention should be paid to it, although very near the extent which her said concession gives in despite is unproductive, (Inhabitada) for the reasons mentioned — Therefore if your excellency finds it proper you may

In attention to what this person solicits, and to the information which precedes from the Commandant, the depth of land which my predecessor in the government conceded to him, (Field Marshal Stephen Miro,) bearing date 7 November 1786, on the River Battoria, bounded on the east by the River Ocas (Goose River) and on the West by "Pinepoint" shall be second from the place where the meadow ground (Praderia) borders on the habitable land, as far as fresh water creek (aqua dulce) —————

You may be on to something after all. Bob had an Aunt Dell Logan who was, he says, was a half sister to Desiree or Liddy Daisy. He says Aunt Dell always called her Deserea and had a son named David and a Daughter named Inez, if that will be of any help. Very interesting. I would love info on Bosarge family, could you inform me on how to purchase the book and in the mean time if you would be so kind to send copies of the pages you refered to. And let me know what we owe you for any expence you may incur. We haven't had much luck with finding anything. There aren't to many scources. had gotten. He said she staggered back into the bed room and he followed her and struck her twice more. After she fell he told how he tried to revive her with towels but he saw she was dead so he took a drink of whiskey and left the hotel."

The taking of testimony in the case did not begin until after 2 p.m. due to difficulty in impaneling a jury. Both the defense, represented by Howard A. McDonnell and John Sekul of Biloxi, and the state, represented by District Attorney Luther Maples and County Attorney L. K. McIntosh used up most of their challenges before a jury acceptable to both sides was sworn in.

Forest Newkirk, negro bell-boy at the hotel, told how Bosarge had come into the hotel on the night in question and asked for a room for himself and wife. He said Bosarge asked for a hammer, saying he had a tack in his shoe. Unable to find the hammer, the bellboy said he gave him a screwdriver but later the man came back and said he needed a hammer or a flat piece of iron to extract the tack. Newkirk testified that although they searched they were unable to find anything satisfactory and after saying goodnight Bosarge had returned to his room.

The night clerk at the hotel, Roger Rousset, testified to giving Bosarge a room and two taxi drivers, Dennis Dorte and George Hardy, told of taking Bosarge as a fare the night in question and Hardy testified that he had driven Bosarge and the girl to the hotel and left them.

Testify Bosarge Confessed Killing Girl With Hammer

Confession of Edward Sharp Bosarge to having struck Lillian Pierce of Denver, Colo., on the head with a hammer after she slapped him in the bath room of a prominent resort hotel near Ocean Springs, where they had taken a room was brought before the court Thursday afternoon in the opening stage of the trial of the former Kreole youth charged with the hammer-slaying of the Pierce woman in February.

Constable Miller of Ocean Springs, one of the first witnesses called, told of Bosarge's statement following his arrest.

"After his arrest," Mr. Miller testified, "Bosarge told me he and the Pierce woman had argued over who was to take a bath first and he followed her into the bath room. She slapped him and he struck her with a hammer he swell affair of the season. Mr. Jos.

Wymer who has the hop in charge says that he has issued one hundred and fifty invitations. The program of dances is fac simile of those used by the members of the Mystic Krew of Comus, New Or-doubt be a source of satisfaction to every one attending. Dancing will begin at 8:30 p. m. with a program of 32 dances.

On Thursday afternoon, 18th inst. at 8 o'clock a wonderful phenomenon occurred in Pascagoula bay. Six water spouts several feet in diameter arose skyward in almost a straight line of about a fourth of a mile and moved eastwardly until dispelled in the distance.
They afforded an unusual spectacle, as many at a time and created considerable excitement through dread of a possible damage to life and property should they have broken over the town, so near were they to the shore.

I declare myself the widow of Monsieur Mesurier by whom I have no children, nor heirs to my property, but I have had with me from her early childhood, my niece Genevieve legitimate daughter of Joseph Bausage & of Louisa Bodegan my sister, whom with much love and affection I have raised, and being now arrived at years of maturity, waits upon me, and assists me in my sickness & infirmities, with so much care that she is even dearer to me than if she were my own daughter, and in gratitude to her for her affectionate kindness

must be responsible for its being vacant, & that no injury be done to any other person by his occupation thereof & it is also his duty to show the title right to the Surveyor; and this done, an estimation thereof will be made, in order that he may solicit formal title therefor.

Ocean Springs, October 21, 1931. The second annual meeting of the United Poultry Producers was held Tuesday, September 29, at Masonic temple, Ocean Springs. There were many members present all approving of the improvement shown as compared to the first year's operations.

Secretary's report of financial condition showed gross sales for the year $39,647.74, which is $9,381.77 greater than last year.

Comparing this year the previous year, it was shown that the eggs sold by the association this year were 122,992 dozen (4089 3-4 cases), exceeding last year by 1545 cases.

Poultry sold this year was 34,934 pounds, exceeding last year by 7403 pounds.

The average price for poultry for the year, including hens, cocks, ducks, turkeys, broilers and fryers, was 27 per pound.

Proof of the association's growth was shown by its having at present 110 members whereas at the time of its charter there were but five members enrolled; it is estimated that by January 1, 1932, the total flocks of members will be 30,000 hens. The manager is in touch with several hatcheries in this vicinity, it being the aim of the association to raise a carload of broilers for shipment to eastern markets in March, 1932, this prospect is practically assured and should be quite an advertisement for this coast section.

Officers elected to serve the ensuing year follow: Jack Wright, president; R. W. Taylor, vice president; Gus Nelson, treasurer; H. L. Girot, secretary-manager. The above together with F. Heyer, V. G. Humphrey, E. J. Suihua, A. C. Tew, R. W. Spalding and C. E. Wilson include the board of directors.

Monthly meetings are held every second Tuesday in each month and annual meetings the last Tuesday in September.

DEATH OF EDWARD BANG.

Mr. Ed. Bang, residing in the Bayou Chicot suburb, died at his home last Sunday evening at six o'clock, after a short illness. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, Rev. John Rogers of Moss Point officiating, with interment in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Bang was 54 years of age, a native and life long citizen of Pascagoula. He was a fisherman by trade and commanded the esteem and respect of his neighbors and friends. He is survived by his widow, four daughters, three sons and other relatives.

MRS. EDWARD BOSARGE.

Mrs. Stella Bosarge, wife of Edward Bosarge, died at her home on Herrick street, this city, Monday afternoon, October 19, after a long illness, and was buried in Greenwood cemetery Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Father McKee, pastor of St. Peter's church officiating.

Mrs. Bosarge was thirty-six years of age, and is survived by her husband and eight children, one of whom is a baby six weeks old.

A lone apple tree in the ten-acre farm of Walter McCellan, near Centerville, La., has produced enough fruit every year for some time to pay the $1434 taxes on his land.

WIZARD OF LIGHT DIED LAST SUNDAY

Thomas A. Edison, World's Greatest Inventor, Passed Peacefully Away at His Home in New Jersey.

Although he had been ill for 11 weeks, and his death had been hourly expected during the past several days, the death of the great inventor, Thomas Alva Edison, caused a wave of regret to surge over the entire civilized world, as it was flashed over the wires in the early hours of Sunday morning, October 18. He died peacefully at his hilltop estate, at West Orange, New Jersey, where he had labored so long and strenuously to give light, work and recreation to the world.

The 84-year-old inventor, who lay deep in a coma at the end, did not wish to live. Dr. Hubert S. Howe disclosed, when he realized his complete recovery was improbable.

His wife and six children, close in attendance during the last stages of the 11 weeks' sickness, had been told by Mr. Edison that his work was finished. He would rather leave the world, he said, than burden them with the disabilities of age and illness.

Bulletin Is Delivered.

In the quiet of the early morning on the Llewellyn Park estate a formal notice of Mr. Edison's passing was brought to newspapermen by Arthur L. Walsh, vice-president of Thomas A. Edison Industries, Inc.

Pale and visibly shaken, Mr. Walsh walked down a tree lined path from the home to press headquarters in the Edison garage to read the bulletin.

"Thomas Alva Edison quietly passed away at 24 minutes after 3 a. m., October 18, 1931. (Signed Dr. Hubert S. Howe.)"

Almost instantly the message firdled the globe by telephone and telegraph systems which were a part of the industries valued at $15,000,000,000 to which Mr. Edison contributed major inventions.

Religious View Given.

While the clicking instruments still were transmitting the first news of Mr. Edison's death there came from his family, in the form of a statement, their answer to the oft-asked question whether the inventor changed his religious beliefs before death.

The statement read:

"The question has been asked whether Mr. Edison changed his religious beliefs before death. Members of the Edison family state this is a difficult question to answer because of the widespread misunderstanding of what his beliefs actually were. Mr. Edison cannot be said to have changed views attributed to him which he never held.

He never was an atheist. Though he subscribed to no orthodox creed, no one who knew him could have doubted his belief in a reverence for a supreme intelligence, and his whole life, in which the ideals of honest loving service to his fellow man was predominant, indicated how faithfully he followed those Washington street, choked to death on a shelled peanut last Sunday morning. The child cried while having a peanut in his mouth, which caused it to go down his wind pipe. He was hurried to the doctor's office at the drug store, but died before anything could be done for him.

Interment took place in Theodore, Ala., Monday. The Chronicle-Star offers sympathy to the bereaved family.

LEGION AUXILIARY TREATED TO FISH FRY

There was a rousing meeting of the Jackson County Post, No. 160, American Legion, last Monday night at the Legion hall on Factory street, it being the regular monthly meeting and well attended. After the business of the meeting was disposed of, the Legion treated the women of the Legion Auxiliary to an enjoyable fish fry, the following members of the auxiliary being present: Madams M. L. Rosenbaum, W. M. Colmer, T. T. Justice, Harold Gautier, Roy Wingfield, Calvin Bolding, Charles Ryder, Carl Delcomyn, H. K. Thornton, Arthur V. Smith, J. D. Brubacher, and Mrs. Pearson.

METHODIST MISSIONARY ZONE MEETING

The Methodist Missionary zone meeting met in Biloxi Monday at the Moore Community House. The churches at Orange Grove, Kreole, Ocean Springs, Moss Point, Vancleave and Pascagoula were represented. Rev. E. L. Ledbetter lead the devotional. Rev. D. L. Houghton of Kreole, offered the invocation. Mrs. C. A. Carrier presided at the meeting. She introduced Mrs. T. B. Cottrell, State President of the Women's Missionary Societies, who gave an interesting talk on "What does the Women's Missionary Society mean to me." Mrs. Alma G. Riley, from the Methodist Orphans Home in Jackson, made a plea for more diligent work in collecting the Octagon soap and Magnolia milk coupons to help pay off the $40,000 indebtedness of the home. The next meeting will be held in January in Pascagoula.

two commandments wherein lie 'all the law and the prophets.'

Thomas Alva Edison was born at Milan, Ohio, February 11, 1847, the son of Samuel and Nancy Elliott Edison. His ancestors emigrated from Holland to the United States in 1730. The family of the inventor was noted, especially on his father's side, for longevity. His great-grandfather, a prosperous New York banker of Revolutionary times, lived to be 104, and his grandfather 102. His father was 94 when he died.

In 1873, Mr. Edison married Mary G. Stillwell, by whom he had three children, Marion Estelle, Thomas A. Jr., and William L. Mrs. Edison died in 1884 and two years later the inventor married Mina M. Miller. Three children, Madeline, Charles and Theodore, were born of this union.

In Pascagoula

The Mississippi Power Company shut off all the lights in the city at 9:40 o'clock Wednesday night out of respect for the death of Edison. Manager Higginbotham had in the show window of his salesroom a life size portrait of the great inventor draped in mourning, and carried his flag at half mast during the day.

This day personally came and appeared before me Sidney Douglas

Esq. A Justice of the Peace in and for the State of Alabama above named Lemuel Childers who deposes & says that he is near sixty years of age that he has lived in the vicinity of the land granted to Louisa Bosarge, lying on the west side ^{of Bayou LaPatrie} in Township Seven South Range three west for the last thirty three years that he is acquainted ^{with} the lines of survey of James Dowd former Deputy Surveyor of the United States as made in the year A. D. 1832 and that he is acquainted with the lines made on the said tract of land made by John James in the year one thousand eight hundred & ~~thirty~~ ^{forty one} that he knows of no other Bayou in the vicinity of said grant by the name of Sweet Water or Dupont or Dupon that John James' survey does not embrace Bayou Dupont or Dupon ~~called for~~ in the original grant of Louisa Bosarge dated 1795 that said Bayou Dupon runs on the west side of Bayou LaPatrie some $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile and southward of said Bayou Sweet Water denominated as the depth of said grant from the edge of the marsh.

That the said Bayou Dupon runs nearly centrally through rough a body of land not included in John James Gurney extending nearly one mile on the West Side of Bayou LaBatre. Commencing at the mouth of Sweet Water embracing the finest prairie

of Bayou LaBatre and Bayou Dupon and the best lands for cultivation and building. Said tract is known particu-rally as being marked 9/58. That Said deponent is acquainted with a piece of land on the North West corner of James Daniels Gurney knows that there is no timber on said light marked U.S.
Preserve suitable for Naval purposes
That this deponent further makes Oath that there is a large body included in John James Gurney on the South Side of the bayou owned by said James that is low and marshy and entirely worthless that this body of land is that, that Louisa Dorsange petitioned C. L. Barron DeBarroldette in the year One Thousand Seven Hundred and ninety five to have left out of the Grant granted to her deceased husband in the year 1786. That said deponent further makes Oath that he has been and is now well acquainted with the Claimants of said Grant for the last thirty three years, and he never heard of any dissatisfaction on the part of the Claimants of James Daniels location. This deponent further states that he knows that the Claimants were dissatisfied with John James Gurney made in the year 1841 or 2 and interested in protest against said survey way that the claimants forbade locating unless he surveyed I according to the original grant and not to alter the lines run and mark ed by James Doan. This Depo-nent further saith to his knowledge that the claimants objected to John James Gurney and never has been satisfied with the survey of the same.

 The Depo- nent further states that some time after he met with John James in the City of Mobile had a conversation with him James on the subject of the location of the tract of land of Laura Bosarge that James told the Depo- nent he had made no between of the Gurney and the parties interested and not aware of the trouble about it. This Depo- nent further states he believed that John James made his survey at the request of John Sadsanair whose family assisted in the survey with a view to have it made so as to benefit said Sadsanair as he desired to have the piece of land marked off 52 Acres left out of the survey of the same.

County of Mobile

before me Sidney J. Douglass a Justice of the Peace in & for said County Joseph Bosarge well known to me, who on oath says that he is now 55 years of age that he was born at Bayou La Batre in said County & has always lived there. That he is well acquainted with the grant or tract of land known as the Louisa Bosarge grant which was made to her in 1795. That he also well knows the Bayou called Deport and also the Bayou called Swift or Fresh Water, that they are the only Bayous in Mobile County bearing those names. He further states that his father Geo. B. Bosarge cultivated the place for many years. That his mother East of Bayou Deport and in the fork made by the confluence of the said Bayou Deport and Bayou Batre for some 18 years, & his father told him that affiant's grand father, Joseph Bosarge, cultivated the same piece of land in his life time. That the older members of the family always called this place "their field" and when affiant first knew the place, there were evidences of ancient cultivation upon it, going to show that the same field had been cultivated by the earliest inhabitants. Affiant states that he knows the lines of the said grant as run by James Dawell N. S. Deputy Surveyor, about the year 1832.

 and that these lines embraced Bayou Depout & the improvements therein before testified to.

Affiant also states that he is well acquainted with the lines of the Survey made by John Jones U.S. Deputy Surveyor in 1841 or thereabouts, and that the last named lines do not embrace either Bayou Depout or the improvements aforesaid. Affiant further states that there is not at present any timber suitable for naval purposes on the west half of the South West quarter of Section 28 T 7 R 3 West which lies on the North West ~~quarter~~^{corner} of Dowell's Survey. A large body of marsh land not suitable for cultivation or habitation was embraced in Jones' Survey on the South part of the tract, & was left out of Dowell's Survey.

Affiant says that at the time that John Jones came there (about 1841) to make a survey of said grant, those interested in the land objected to his running the lines in any other manner than in accordance with the grant - and when he had run them differently, they protested against it to Jones & when they remonstrated with him, he assured them that the survey was illegal & would not be returned, as he always understood from the parties interested. Affiant listed upon his protest against Jones survey had he supposed that the same had been returned. And

	-On Tuesday night, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rigsby celebrated the fifth anniversary of their marriage with a reception at the home of Mrs. Rigsby's parents, Mr. & Mrs. C. Bosarge, a large number of friends and relatives being present. During the evening refreshments were served and games indulged in. The sharpening of lead pencils by the ladies and a whittling contest between the gentlemen, for which prizes were offered, were novelties which afforded a great deal of merriment. Miss Belle Urie won the prize, a lace handkerchief, for the best sharpened lead pencil, and Mr. C. Bosarge carried off the honors in the whittling contest, the prize being a necktie. Miss Lucy Laurendine and Mr. H. Horgan were the judges. Many useful presents of wood were received. The evening's entertainment was brought to a close with many wishes for the future happiness of the popular couple who have now passed the fifth milepost on the happy road of life's marital anniversaries.
